As previously announced, today (25 May 2023) marks Simon Swallow's final day as CEO of the Shipowners' Club, with Simon Peacock taking on the reins in that role.

As Simon Swallow moves towards his retirement date of 3 August, the Club will miss the unique commercial contribution that he has brought to this role since March 2015 and to the Club over the past 32 years. The Club's strong relationships with its Members and their brokers is one of the key aspects of what makes the Club successful and we are therefore delighted to announce that Mark Harrington has today been promoted to the board of the Club's management company (Shipowners' Protection Limited – 'SPL') in the role of Commercial Director – London.
