

Communication management of a pilotage operation

Communication is key - speak up and question decisions

As a Club we have been made aware of a number of recent FFO and collision incidents that have occurred whilst under pilotage. On investigation it is apparent that the primary cause, in most cases, can be attributable to a breakdown of communication.

This poster has been developed to highlight the demands placed on the key groups involved with a berthing pilotage and underlines the communication channels that should be in place to ensure an efficient and safe operation.
