

P&IQ Scholarships 2023

The International Group of P&I Clubs and The Education Committee are pleased to announce the expansion of its annual scholarship programme to take part in the highly successful P&I Qualification programme.

Last year, the Group's Education Committee awarded two scholarships to individuals to complete the P&IQ. We are pleased to announce that, in 2023, we will be awarding a further two scholarships to candidates who wish to study the programme. In addition to this renewal of the programme, in 2023 the Group will also make available two additional scholarship places aimed specifically at employees of commercial correspondent companies named in the currently (2023) published list of correspondents of at least one IG P&I Club, who would otherwise be unable to complete the course*. This support, in addition to other new initiatives to be announced for correspondents taking the P&IQ, is an important recognition of how IG Clubs value their correspondent network worldwide.

 For candidates working as commercial correspondents, when addressing the criteria relating to financial need, they should, in addition outline why their employer has not agreed to fund their participation.*

The full press release can be read on the IG website